This game they call golf is too tough
My drive always lands in the rough
I think I'll just quit
So yes this is it
I am through, I have just had enough.

Wizard lizard
There was an old lizard,
Who was a wizard,
When it was damp,
He took a lamp,
That strange old lizard wizard

Pig in a wig
There was a pig,
In a wig,
Who ate a plum,
Then looked a bit glum,
That strange old pig in a wig.

There once was a gal who with all of her will Tried to hit a white ball in the grass that was still
Into a hole after a favorable roll
But alas her tally of swings reached its fill.

There once were two dogs who were pals.
One black and one white, boy and gal.
They ran and they chased, and barked at closed gates,
While thoughts of color or gender lacked rationale.

This library called M-Three
Is quite the place to be
Books galore
And plenty more
Now Thursday treats for me!

Friendly little butterfly

There was a butterfly,
Who lived in a pigsty,
And she would love
The singing of a dove
That friendly little butterfly

It is bumpy (a caterpillar is trying to walk towards a stalk)

It is bumpy,
It is jumpy,
At a stalk,
Doing a walk,
It is bumpy

There was a fat lady from Parel
Who went and slipped down a well
But there's no need to cry for the lass didn't die
All water splashed out when she fell

An old man of Denmark

There was an old man of Denmark,
Who found a penmark,
When he said, "Does it fit?"
They replied, "Not a bit",
That silly old man of Denmark.

The fat cat on mat

There was a fat cat on a mat,
Who leaped upon a rat,
Then ate some fish,
Using a hat as a dish,
That fat cat on a mat.

On Flying

Welcome to the world of flight
For sheer and utter delight
Not flights of fancy
For those could be chancy
Just take off and soar like a kite
